Project details

Project name	Oxford Magdalen College Old Bursary
Short description of the project	In July 2009 Oxford Archaeology (OA) carried out an archaeological watching brief during investigatory floor slab removal within the Music Room/Store, Linen Room and Lobby of Magdalen College, Oxford. In the Music Room/Store a short stretch of stone wall/foundation aligned NE-SW was found, and probably relate to the medieval infirmary of the Hospital of St. John the Baptist at Oxford. These remains were overlain and abutted by foundations and floor make-up deposits relating to the current college buildings. Only service runs, pipework, modern wall foundations and modern floor make-up deposits were observed in the Linen Store and Lobby. No dating evidence was retrieved during the works.

9) there is a short stretch of NWSE return keyed into it.

Interpretation/Discussion:

A NW-SE limestone wall foundation. (possibly in construction at [7])

it has a short stretch of NW-SE return wall keyed into it. wall (3) sits directly on it (but is at a different angle). The return wall has been cut [9] (for wall (10) + possibly cut at the SW for wall (4)).

It is on a different alignment to the standing buildings.

Possibly an earlier college building or possibly the hospital?
